EDITORIAL

One more page has been added to the chronicle of Christ College. As we cherish the accomplishments of the Christite community, we also somberly reflect on the events of the past year. A tumultuous one, the year witnessed the appalling cruelty of one community against another, one nation against another, not to speak about the consequences of the global economic slowdown.

It is this context that we ruminate on the vision of education that we need to uphold. At Christ College, the effort is to protect, sustain and strengthen the holistic character of education. With Dr. Radhakrishnan, Christ College believes that "Education to be complete, must be humane, it must include not only the training of the intellect, but the refinement of the heart and the discipline of the spirit."

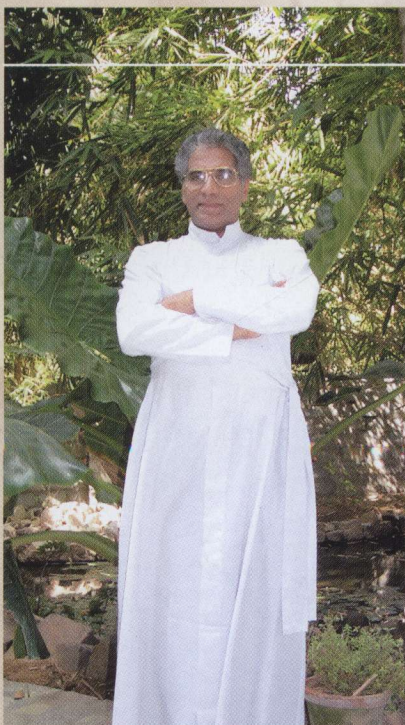

The following pages bear testimony not only to the cerebral and the highbrowed activities, but also to the creative expressions and enduring relationships that have been forged in the last one year. The various pursuits featured here are part of holistic education, an effort to achieve excellence without sacrificing long cherished goals of peace, justice and democracy.

Truly what follows is a record of adventures of the mind, body and spirit, with the added chorus...

*Do not go gently into that good night
Rage, rage against the dying of the light.*

Fr. Sebastian T.A., Fr. Thomas C. Mathew, Mr. Shaji Varghese, Mr. Jerome Xavier, Mr. Naresh Rao, Mr. Vinod N. G., Mr. Philip A. P., Ms. Molly Mampilly, Mr. James Kurian, Archana Raman, Arun Joseph, Sijith Kumar, Alex Joseph, Vinod Michael, Sanjay Chourasia and Nalini C.

Rector's Message

Over the last three and a half decades, Christ College has grown into a renowned centre for learning. The ever increasing demand for admissions into the college and the excellent performance of the students in the professional world bears testimony to the effectiveness of education that is being provided here and the discipline in the campus. The wide range of courses and various innovations like the twinning programmes ensure that the students are prepared well to excel in the competitive global economy.

The mainstay of any academic community is the faculty, so too in Christ College. Continually endeavouring for innovation, they have been able to nurture students for challenging careers. While we prepare for autonomy, seeking greater heights in 'Excellence and Service', we once again reaffirm our commitment to quality education. The excellent administration and logistical support provided by the staff ensure that the students are in the right ambience for achieving higher standards of excellence.

The key feature of education at Christ College is the diversity on the campus, diversity of communities, perspectives and interests - potent ingredients for a rich and productive academic life. The holism in education provided fosters great respect for diversity and pluralism, values which are the need of the hour.

The extended Christ College community consists of the alumni and parents of our students. Over the years the alumni have proactively supported all the endeavours of the college, which demonstrates their pride in their alma mater.

May the portals of this institution continue to nurture outstanding leaders for a changing world.
